Many leaders in the affordable housing field continue to struggle with how best to create a diverse and inclusive workplace environment that helps the organization (and every employee) reach its full potential. Please join Changing the Face of Housing in Minnesota for a leadership workshop on establishing a solid business case for diversity through helping every employee excel in the workplace. Executive directors and other senior staff are invited to attend.

The morning will consist of an engaging and hands-on workshop by national training consultant Wayne Wilson from the Novations Group, Inc. The Novations Group is a leading global professional services firm committed to building the capacity of individuals and organizations worldwide. Their diversity training primarily supports leaders in developing an inclusive culture of development and productivity for all. Learn more about Novations at www.novations.com. Leaders are strongly encouraged to attend the entire training.
